PREFACE.

The undersigned takes pleasure in presenting this the first GAZETTEER AND DIRECTORY of Jackson County, Iowa, and believes it will be found as correct and reliable as any similar work published in this State.

Unsparing efforts and great care have been taken to render it in every way a practical work of reference.

Most cordial thanks are extended to the mercantile and professional gentlemen of the county, who have so liberally patronized the work, by their advertisements.

The compiler desires particularly to accord his grateful acknowledgments for valuable assistance, and other courtesies rendered by A. J. House, late County Auditor; W. C. Swigart, editor Jackson Sentinel; Russell Perham, Esq.; Mott Watson, Esq., and Capt. W. A. Warren, of Bellevue.

In conclusion there remains one pleasant duty to discharge, that of making honorable mention of the GAZETTE PRINTING COMPANY, and in particular of Mr. H. C. Marsh, the efficient superintendent, whose practical skill in the typographic art has produced a work, at once a credit to themselves and the publisher.

F. E. OWEN.

SUPPLEMENTARY NOTICES.

In our editorial review of Maquoketa we omitted the following notices:

HARRIS OPERA HOUSE.

This building, one of the handsomest and best constructed in the city of Maquoketa, was erected at a cost of $15,000 by J. C. Harris, Esq., a gentleman who has spent a large amount of money to advance the material prosperity of the place. Mr. Harris has been a resident of Maquoketa for 25 years, and established in business since 1857 as proprietor of the Novelty Carriage Works, where he manufactures everything in the line of light and heavy buggies, carriages, wagons, as well as the patent bent panel for bodies and seats. He employs a large number of hands, and turns out a superior class of workmanship.

D. C. SHAW.

This gentleman has been engaged for many years in the photograph business in Maquoketa, and to further the interests of art in this vicinity has lately bought the right to produce the new and already celebrated picture—the Chromotype—and a visit to his gallery will convince anyone of the amount of beauty which photography can receive from true artistic feeling.

NORTHROP & GLASER.

C. E. Northrop, one of the early pioneers, established himself in the furniture business in 1853. In 1867 Mr. Glaser became a partner. Being the oldest house in the business in Maquoketa and thoroughly reliable, they have gained the respect of the citizens generally.

H. G. HASKELL & CO.

The above firm have lately bought the business long known under the style of B. B. Frase & Co. in the agricultural implement line. Mr. Haskell has been a resident of Jackson county since 1841, and the acquaintance gained in the active business pursuits of his life, as well as the fact of retaining Mr. B. B. Frase and Mr. Coffee, warrant us in predicting a success.

SKETCH OF IOWA.

France first claimed the territory now embraced in the State of Iowa. In 1763 it was ceded to Spain. October 1, 1800, receded to France. April 30, 1803, ceded, with other territory, to the United States. October 31, 1803, a temporary government was authorized by Congress for this new territory. October 1, 1804, it was included in the District of Louisiana, and placed under the jurisdiction of the territorial government of Indiana. July 4, 1805, it was incorporated with the Territory of Louisiana, which then had a territorial government. June 4, 1812, it was embraced in the Territory of Missouri. June 28, 1834, it became a part of the Territory of Michigan. July 3, 1836, it was incorporated with the Territory of Wisconsin. July 12, 1838, it was included in, and constituted a part of the new Territory of Iowa. December 28, 1846, admitted into the Union as a State.

This State, having a vast extent of the most fertile land, must, of course, raise, with the greatest ease, all the articles to which her soil and climate are favorable. By her long line of coast on the Mississippi, never hindered from being navigable by the lowness of water, Iowa has facilities for conveying her products, which the States situated on the Ohio do not enjoy. From her immense prairies and boundless summer ranges for stock, she has advantages for raising cattle and other stock superior to those of other western districts.

This State is undoubtedly the richest in soil of any in the Union, and, of course, holds out the greatest prospect of advantage to the agriculturist. Here is ample room for thousands of farmers, there being still vast quantities of first-rate land, extending in every direction, uncultivated, which may be had at not only reasonable, but cheap rates, and one acre of which, in a majority of cases, produces at least twice as much as the same amount of land in most of the Eastern States. If rural pursuits are pleasant or profitable anywhere in our country, they must be peculiarly so in Iowa, for here the produce of the farmer springs up almost spontaneously, not more than one-third the labor being necessary on the farms here that is required on those in the East.

JACKSON COUNTY.

Jackson County lies on the Mississippi River, and forms a connecting link between the counties of Dubuque and Clinton. It was organized in 1838 by act of the Territorial Legislature of Wisconsin. The first county officers were the following: W. A. Warren, Sheriff; John Rowe, Recorder; J. K. Moss, County Judge; William Morden, William Jones and James Leonard, County Commissioners. The early settlement of the county was doubtless due to its contiguity to the famous lead mines of Dubuque, and its commanding position on the highway of waters, being situated on that great eastern bend of the Mississippi river, commonly called "Cromwell's Nose."

The first Territorial Court was held in Bellevue in June, 1837, by Judge Dunn, of Wisconsin; Hon. J. V. Berry, prosecuting attorney. Among the distinguished attorneys present on that occasion were Hon. E. B. Washburne, of Galena; Hon. James Grant, of Davenport; Hon. James Churchman; Hon. Peter Hill Engle, afterwards Judge of the Criminal Court of St. Louis, Mo.; and the Hon. Thomas S. Wilson was appointed first Judge under Iowa Territory.

When Jackson, Jones and Linn counties were first established in 1837, the seat of justice of all three was located at Bellevue, where it remained until 1848, when it was moved to Andrew. It was again removed from Andrew to Bellevue in 1851, and from Bellevue back to Andrew in 1861. In 1873 it was removed from Andrew to Maquoketa, whose citizens erected a fine Court House at a cost of $15,000, and who have leased it to the county for a period of ninety-nine years. The jail still remains at Andrew, and is a substantial stone structure, and cost $8,000.

The surface of the county is, for the most part, undulating, having dense growths of timber in various parts, especially the valley of the Maquoketa.

One of the most attractive localities in this county has been saddled with a very inappropriate name—"Tete des Morts"

Digitized by Google

Valley, but in spite of its ghastly appellation, this lovely vale abounds in life and beauty.

The curious effects produced by the vast cliffs of Galena limestone, rising from forty to sixty feet almost perpendicularly, and seemingly capped with living emerald, rolling back toward cloud-land, or lost in the towering bluffs at their back, may be imagined by an artist, but would require the pen of a Scott to depict in fitting language the grandeur and sublimity of the scene.

The Maquoketa river runs through somewhat similar formations, and in some places the cliffs rise nearly one hundred feet from the water level. The county is well watered and drained by this beautiful river and its numerous branches, which are spanned in many places by some of the finest of iron bridges. The configuration of the county and the nature of the soil vary largely in different parts.

Limestone of various formations from the Niagara and Trenton to Galena, can be found in this county, and St. Peter sandstone is exposed in some places. Some iron ore has been found in various parts of the county.

The forks of the Maquoketa and its numerous tributaries form, in many places, unrivaled water powers. Building stone, and clay for making bricks, are abundant. Sand and materials for quicklime. Timber, the finest in the world. These, added to the vast water powers which only wait to be employed, and soil and situation unsurpassed, offer a good showing for the future of Jackson county, and especially qualify this county to be the home of agriculture, dairy farming, and stock raising.

There is a Poor Farm located three miles north of Andrew in Perry township, of 300 acres, on which has been erected a stone structure for an Asylum.

The county is divided into eighteen townships, as follows: Maquoketa, South Fork, Monmouth, Brandon, Farmer's Creek, Perry, Butler, Washington, Union, Tete des Morts, Bellevue, Prairie Spring, Otter Creek, Richland, Van Buren, Iowa, Fairfield and Jackson.

REMINISCENCES.

In the earlier years of the county, from the then unsettled condition of society, many were the exciting incidents which occured. Mr. Goodenow, in an interview with the writer, graphically describes having witnessed an encounter between two men who long had a dispute in reference to some land. He said: "Court was in session in Bellevue, and we, the jury, of which I was one, were standing on the river bank, waiting for the judge to come, when Dr. Sparks remarked that he expected to see a fuss between Davis and Groff, as they were both heavily armed. Davis had just landed from a steamboat from Dubuque, where he had gone in reference to the land, passed into a store, left his gun there, and walked out again in company with his son-in-law, and started up the street. As we were looking at them and talking, Groff was noticed to come out of a doorway, walk crouchingly across the street, with his rifle in his hand, rest his arm on the fence, and draw bead on Davis, whom he shot dead in presence of fifty people. This man Groff was afterwards tried for murder, and acquitted on the plea of self-defence, although the jury were severely condemned for their action, and hung in effigy."

In our sketch of Jackson county, we desire to make mention of that old and respected resident, who settled in Otter Creek township in 1841. We allude to the Hon. James Dunne, who was born in 1823 in Kings County, Ireland. Mr. Dunne has become very popular with all classes, has served for nineteen years as Supervisor of Jackson County, and was elected as Representative to the Thirteenth General Assembly, a position which he filled to the honor and credit of his constituents. He is a man of unimpeachable integrity, cool and sound executive ability, as well as benevolent, kindly and social in heart.

TIMBER.

One of the chief products of this county are its immense groves of timber. About one-fourth of the area of the county is covered with timber of excellent growth, the larger bodies lying in the western and northern parts, and embracing all the hardy varieties, including oak, maple, elm, linn, poplar, black and white walnut, hickory, cherry, cottonwood, with occasional groves of pine.

STREAMS.

The southern portion of the county is abundantly watered by the Maquoketa river, and its numerous tributaries. The North Fork of the Maquoketa enters the county at the line between Butler and Brandon townships, flows south-easterly until it joins the South Fork a short distance north of Maquoketa city. The South Fork enters the county at Canton, in Brandon township, flows in a south-easterly direction, until it reaches the city of Maquoketa, when it makes a bend northward, and joins the North Fork, whence they both commingle in the Maquoketa river proper, which tends east until it flows into the Mississippi, a short distance north of Green Island.

POPULATION.

In 1837 the population of the county was 244, which had increased in 1874 to 22,284. According to the State Census taken that year, there were 4,144 dwellings; families, 4,183; entitled to vote, 4,652; foreigners, not naturalized, 591; number of militia, 2,871.

CITY OF MAQUOKETA.

ITS PROGRESS, PROSPECTS AND RESOURCES.

SITUATION, EARLY SETTLEMENT, POPULATION, BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS, STATISTICS, EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES, &c.

Maquoketa, or "Timber City," the county seat of Jackson County, situated near the southern boundary and on the river of the same name, is the northern terminus of the Davenport & North-Western Railway (Maquoketa Branch), midway between Davenport and Dubuque, the two principal cities of Iowa.

In 1838, Mr. John E. Goodenow emigrated from Warren County, New York, crossed the Mississippi at Sabula, then called Charleston, and found a family located there of the name of Wood, with a son-in-law named Steen. In the spring of the same year Mr. Goodenow moved west until he came to the Forks of the Maquoketa, where the unusual fertility of the soil, as well as its many other natural advantages, induced him to choose this spot for his future residence.

Between here and Davenport there was only one family, named Wheeler, located at De Witt, and Mr. Goodenow, in company with an acquaintance named Bates, who was living with him, desiring to go to Davenport, had to drag a load of brush to break down the grass, and thus leave a trail by which to return. At this time there was only one family between Maquoketa and Dubuque—a widow Mullin and her boys, and an old hermit-like fellow named Dixon, and only one tavern in Dubuque, and that built of logs, and two or three stores at which trading was done.

In 1842 the land excitement came to fever heat, and many towns sprang into existence (on paper), among others Bridge port, laid out by Col. Cox, about two miles and half from where Maquoketa now stands. Another named Lowell, but it was not until 1844, when Mr. Goodenow induced a man named Marr to open a general store, that this became the center around which congregated several families, who formed the neuclus of the future city of Maquoketa. In 1842, the first school house was erected of brick, manufactured for the purpose by Mr. Goodenow. In 1846 he also erected another large building, which became known as Goodenow's Hotel, or half-way house between Davenport and Dubuque.

The first attempt at a school was in an old building, formerly used as a blacksmith shop, which by patching up with sods and mud, was rendered habitable. This was used until 1846, when Mr. Goodenow, having dedicated one of the most beautiful squares of ground in the city, a large and commodious brick building was erected and called "The Academy." Dr. Lake, at present an honored resident of the city, was the first teacher.

One of the early settlers was John Shaw, who purchased a claim of eighty acres in 1837, cornering where the Stephens stone block now stands, and who settled on it in 1841. He was one of the most active and energetic men of the place, and died in 1853. His family still reside in Maquoketa, and his son is editor of the Excelsior, one of the leading newspapers.

The first white child born within the corporate limits of the town was Wesley Nims, his birth occurring in 1840.

The Rev. M. Salter was the first minister who preached, and his first discourse was delivered in 1839.

We herewith present a sketch written by Russell Perham, a worthy and esteemed citizen of Maquoketa, who has long been a resident of the place:

"In March 1838, or forty years ago the coming March, Mr. John E. Goodenow and Lyman Bates, of Warren county, New York, made the first permanent settlement in Maquoketa. They found a Mr. Phillips on a claim one mile north of town, on land now owned by the Sears Brothers, and S. Burleson, William Vosburgh, and Calvin Teeple, on claims six miles west of town, they having come in the year before, or in 1837. Of the latter, Mr. Burleson and Mr. Teeple still live on the lands then selected. Mr. Goodenow made a claim on the south-east corner of Main and Platt streets, and Mr. Bates of the land on which he now lives one and one-half miles south. Mr. Goodenow built a log cabin on the north-west corner of his claim, upon the ground on which Cohn's store now stands. This he resolved was to be the future home of himself and prospective family. Here he remained, making that home as comfortable as possible under the circumstances, until the latter part of the summer of 1839, when he returned to New York, and in September following married Miss Eliza Wright, and with her and Thomas Wright and wife, and Amasa Nims and wife, returned to this, the wild western home of his choice. About this time John Clark and Jonas, his brother, together with Z. Livermore, John Shaw, Charles, William and Achilus Gordon, and A. Spaulding came into the neighborhood. Mr. Livermore made a claim on what is now the north-east corner of Main and Platte streets, Mr. Spaulding on the north-west corner, Mr. Shaw on the south-west corner, Mr. Goodenow already having the south-east corner. Each built their temporary home on their claims. John Clarke built a log house in the timber in the south-east portion, known as the Arnold place. Charles Gordon built a blacksmith shop on Mr. Livermore's claim, where the postoffice now stands, and a man by the name of Ab. Montgomery had made a claim and was living on the place now owned by J. Trout in the extreme southwestern part of town. Thomas Wright took a claim three miles west of the town, and A. Nims located about four miles south. J. Pangborn had also located on the land where he now lives, on the corner of Main and West Summit streets. There were now eight or nine houses within a radius of two miles and a few more further out. A postoffice was established here in 1840, which was called after the name of the place, Springfield; but after Harrison's election to the Presidency, it was removed to Bridgeport, and there remained for about two years.

"At the time of which we write, Iowa was a Territory of the Government of the United States. Its lands were not in market and were not put on sale until 1845, the year prior to its admission as a State. This district, subject to entry at Dubuque, had been surveyed, and the settlers made their claims from this original survey under the auspices of a claim society composed of the first permanent settlers of Dubuque, Jackson and Clinton counties. The object of this society was to protect its members in a peaceable possession and enjoyment of their respective claims, against those who might come at a later date, covet and seek to deprive them by unfair means of their chosen homes. Each member, by the rules of the society, was allowed to claim and hold until the lands came into market, three hundred and twenty acres in a homestead.

"This society in its day was of great benefit to its members, inasmuch as its rules and regulations were the only law known, except the Territorial, which at that time was of but little benefit, for the reason that its executors were so remote and inaccessible. Many an industrious and enterprising pioneer was compelled to appeal to it for protection against the encroachments of a worthless class of squatters, whose sole business was the securing and sale of the choice claims of the county. This society when appealed to through its officers would gather en-masse, organize a court from its own members, hear the evidence in the case, notify the intruder of its findings, and unless its decision was voluntarily complied with, it was carried into effect by brave hearts and stout hands. This was the only security of the people at this time, and many of this worthless class of vagabonds were compelled to seek new tramping grounds or suffer the righteous indignation of the injured settlers.

"Under such circumstances was the first permanent settlement made here, and year after year new accessions were made to their numbers. About this time, 1840, it becoming apparent that a little business place must spring up in this vicinity, quite a rivalry was manifested as to its location. Some were in favor of Springfield, some of Bridgeport, and others of the place on which the Rockville mills now stand. The postoffice having been removed to Bridgeport that seemed to be the favored locality, and Jonas Clark got timber on the ground preparatory to the erection of a small store building at that point. At the same time Thomas Wright and Z. Livermore built a saw mill on the present site of the Rockville mills, where afterwards Mr. Wright built a wool-carding and cloth-dressing mill. Mr. Clark, changing his views as to location, removed his material, built the house now occupied by Mrs. S. D. Tubbs, and opened a store at that point, in which he did business for about two years. In the mean time Mr. Goodenow finding his little corn-cracker under his shed adjoining his cabin, and run by horse-power, was inadequate to the wants of the people, secured the claim on which McCloy's mill now stands, of Ab. Montgomery, at an expense of $25, threw a dam across the stream, a portion of which is still standing, and built a mill, putting in his own corn-crackers. There being no bolts the people were obliged to use their flour, bran and all, unless they sifted it out by a mill seive. At this time there was no mill where bolted flour could be obtained, nearer than Sage's mill, on the little Maquoketa, six miles north of Dubuque.

"As an illustration of the rustic manner in which many of the first settlers were obliged to live, we will mention the name of John Riggs, who located three miles south of town. He put up the body of a log house, covered it with poles laid crosswise, and piled prairie grass on top of these for a roof. He moved into this rude tenement and set up his stove, but where was his chimney to carry away the smoke? It would not do to build one through the grass covered roof for fear of fire. But a happy thought struck him—he would cut a hole through each of the four sides of his cabin and run the pipe out through these, changing it from one to the other as the wind changed. This is not an isolated case, for very many of the early settlers occupied homes of no greater pretensions, and their diet was as simple as their homes were cheerless.

"In 1842 the postoffice at Bridgeport was re-located at Springfield, J. E. Goodenow, postmaster, and the name of the office and place changed to Maquoketa, an Indian name, signifying 'Bear River.' Mr. John Shaw had finished off a room in his block house, located on the present site of Mrs. Shaw's brick dwelling house, and put in a small stock of goods. Maquoketa was now triumphant. She had a mill, a store, a postoffice and a blacksmith shop. Rockville and Bridgeport surrendered, and Jonas Clark, after a severe skirmish with his partner, over the question of removing their stock of goods to Maquoketa, in which revolvers were drawn, finally became master of the situation and established himself on the corner of Main and Platt streets. Mr. Platt Smith about this time, bought the mill erected by Mr. Goodenow, put in bolts, made bolted flour, and the wants of the people seemed almost satisfied. Thus matters moved on, new settlers came in, older ones broke their prairie, fenced their improvements and replaced their old cabins by new and more commodious ones built of hard wood.

"In 1847 David Sears and Pierce Mitchell came in with a stock of goods and opened their store in the building until recently occupied by Chas. E. Northrop as a cabinet wareroom.

Mr. Sears had been here a year or so prior to this and had bought for the firm of Sears & Munson quite a large tract of land just north of town. He now built a dam across the South Fork of the Maquoketa River about one mile north of the crossing of Main and Platt streets, and built a saw mill. He had platted and laid out a town at this point which he called Lowell, and brought on from Cincinnati fine lithograph maps of the projected town. Several of these lots were sold and afterwards built upon. He built for himself quite a fine brick dwelling and commenced the erection of a brick flouring mill, which was completed in the fall of 1849, and called the Lowell Merchant Mills. Thomas Wright removed his cloth-dressing establishment to this place, and between this and the two mills this became quite a place of business. But in a few years this treacherous stream cut across lots above his mill, leaving it high and dry and in a dilapidated condition, when all the machinery was finally removed and the whole went to decay. Mr. Sears now had additional cause for damning the stream more essentially than ever before, for it had floated away his visions of wealth in his mills and projected town. A wag having passed the place a short time after the mill was demolished, remarked to a friend he met in regard to the general appearance of the place, said 'he saw a dam by a mill site, but saw no mill by a damn'd sight.'

"From 1849 to 1854 nothing of special interest occurred. The remaining Government lands in the vicinity, were mostly entered and undergoing improvements by permanent settlers of some means, and the town, keeping pace with the country tributary, increased in business importance. At this time the products of the farm, which was chiefly wheat, found no ready market here, and farmers were compelled to go to Davenport, Camanche, Bellevue or Dubuque with it, and as a general thing, realized only about fifty cents per bushel for it, after spending two days in getting thirty to market.

"In the summer of 1854 the Iowa Central Air Line R. R. Co., was organized and received its charter, with S. S. Jones, of St. Charles, Ill., as its President, and John E. Goodenow as our resident Director. Its eastern connections were located at Sabula, Lyons and Clinton, on the Mississippi River, to run thence westerly to Hauntown, forming a junction, and from there to Maquoketa. This project gave a new impetus and importance to us as a business point, and its improvement became more rapid and of a more substantial character. In 1856 the company received from Congress a grant of $12,000,000 worth of Government lands, on condition that the company complete the road to Maquoketa by January 1st, 1858. In September, 1857, the road bed was in such a state of forwardness as to commence laying the iron, and the parties who were to furnish it, were telegraphed to forward it. But at this inopportune moment the Ohio Trust Company, through whose credit it was to be furnished, failed, and the result was, the iron manufacturers refused to fill their contract and the whole scheme was defeated.

"In 1860 a project for navigating the Maquoketa river was started, and a steamboat was built expressly for that purpose; but this, too, failed, and we were again disappointed.

"On September 3d, 1870, the Davenport & St. Paul R. R. was completed from Davenport to this place, and the Iowa Midland from Clinton to Delmar, and on that day trains on each of these roads ran into Maquoketa for the first time: that on the Midland running in from Delmar on the Davenport track. This was a proud day for our citizens. What they had been so long striving for was at last accomplished, and Maquoketa from that day became the leading market place for a large section of country.

"The Davenport & North-Western Railway is now doing a vast and increasing business, under the efficient management of John E. Henry, Esq., and the thoroughly popular and gentlemanly General Ticket Agent, Mr. J. L. Kellogg. The passenger train is conducted under the supervision of that genial king of punchers, Mr. Charles Mitchell, whose attention to patrons and fidelity to the interests of the Company has popularized him with all.

"In 1873 the county seat of Jackson County was located here by the popular vote of the county, and this gave increased importance to the place, and from that day it has been the leading business point in the county. Situated as it is, on the Maquoketa river, midway between five excellent water powers; having to the north, and extending many miles east and west, as heavy a body of as fine timber as grows in any country, consisting principally of white, red, yellow and black oak, maple, hickory, black walnut, butternut, basswood and cottonwood, with several other varieties; while on the south, east and west, and extending for twenty miles or more, lies a prairie country as beautiful to look upon, and of as fine a quality of soil as the sun ever shone upon, and all under a good state of cultivation. With no competing business place within twenty miles, there is no reason why, under a just and liberal business policy by our business men, it should not maintain its supremacy in the future as it has in the past, and continue to be the center of trade for this rich and flourishing section of Iowa."

INCORPORATION.

On January 27th, 1857, Maquoketa was incorporated as a city, by a special act of the Legislature. The charter was published March 31st, 1857 and adopted on the 26th of April following. On the 4th day of May the first city officials were elected, and the city government was inaugurated three days afterwards, with John E. Goodenow, as Mayor; John Pope, Recorder; Z. Livermore, Daniel Rhodes, A. Hall, J. N. Viall and P. Mitchell, Aldermen.

POPULATION, ETC.

The population of Maquoketa has been variously stated. The State Census compiled in 1873–4, gives it a population of 2,112, but the great increase in the progress and prosperity of the place since that time, as well as a very careful estimate from the resources at our command, warrant us in claiming for the city of Maquoketa a population of 3,000.

MUNICIPAL DEBT.

The city at present has an indebtedness of $5,000, incurred by the erection of the Court House, which was presented by the city of Maquoketa to the county of Jackson.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

Maquoketa has a graded school system, which embraces every public school in the city. Well may Maquoketa be proud of her high school, one of the handsomest and stately edifices in the State. It stands on a rising eminence in a beautiful square, commanding a magnificent view of the city and surrounding country. It was erected in 1876, at a cost of $23,000.

This school is divided into six grades or rooms, each with a competent teacher; the whole being under the immediate supervision of the efficient superintendent, Prof. C. C. Dudley.

There are four other primary schools, one in each ward.

BANKING FACILITIES.

There are two well conducted banking institutions: the Exchange Bank of Maquoketa, and the First National; both doing a safe and extensive business.

BUILDING IMPROVEMENTS.

The business houses and residences are all of a substantial and generally handsome order, several being especially noticeable for their beauty of design and architecture, such as the Harris Opera House; Centennial Hall and Block, erected in 1876 by Messrs. Field & Sutherland; Exchange Block, corner of Main and Pleasant streets; Union Block occupied by S. Williams; T. E. Cannell's Building erected in 1872, at a cost of $3,500; Excelsior Block and Merchants Block. During the year 1877 it is estimated that over $75,000 was expended in building.

The new Decker House, now about completed, built by James Decker, formerly of Watertown, N. Y., is one of the finest hotel buildings in this part of the State. Its dimensions are 45x140 feet, three stories high, besides basement and attic; well and substantially built of brick, and on a heavy and permanent stone foundation, and will cost when finished, about $30,000. The basement is 10 feet in the clear, the first story 14, the second 13, the third 10, and the attic 7. The house contains 100 rooms and all finished after the modern style.

Few if any cities of its size in the State can boast of as good school buildings, churches, taken all together, court house, stores, hotels, when the new Decker House is completed and opened, and none can compare in the amount of good sidewalks. In a few years more, when the fruits of the spirit of enterprise which now animates our citizens shall have time to be realized, we believe a place containing more pleasant and attractive residences can not be found. That the spirit to accomplish this is already at work in our midst, can be seen by all who will take a walk around our streets. In the list given below we have only attempted to give the amount of the new buildings and additions of some importance, erected. Aside from this there has been a large amount expended in repairing dwellings, other buildings and for other purposes of which we have taken no account, that would make the total run still larger.

The figures given are the actual amount expended as given by parties owning buildings, and are not fancy figures made for the occasion to swell the total. In our visits we have found that already many are making preparations for building next year, which shows that the work has not yet been so much overdone this year as to cause a standstill next year.

NEWSPAPERS.

The Jackson Sentinel was established in 1854 by W. C. Swigart, who continued to conduct it consecutively till the Fall of 1862. At that time, Mr. Henderson, who was the printer in the office, went into the army, leaving an edition partly set up, which remained in that condition for about two years. Several attempts were made about that time to revive the Sentinel, but they were unsuccessful, and it was finally sold to G. W. Hunt, who removed it to Le Claire, Scott County, in 1866.

Through the encouragement and patronage of the Democratic party, Mr. Swigart re-established the Jackson Sentinel in the Spring of 1868, under the designation of a "new series," and has since conducted it successfully as a Democratic organ of the county.

The Sentinel is a well-conducted and ably-edited weekly in quarto form, and has a good circulation.

The Maquoketa Excelsior, Republican in politics, was established in March, 1856, by Peter Moriarty. In the Spring of 1869, Colonel Woods, the then proprietor, sold to W. S. Beldon, who retained possession until the 1st of March, 1876, when his interest was bought by Messrs. Shaw & Matthews, the present editors and proprietors.

The Excelsior has always been a Republican paper. It is an ably-conducted six-column quarto, and enjoys a good patronage.

The Maquoketa Clipper, P. R. Bailey editor and proprietor, is a live, spicy little sheet, recently removed from Preston, where it was long known as "Bailey's Clipper." The Clipper is sharp, pungent, newsy, and withal "independent as a hog on ice."

Maquoketa is a surprise to all visitors, as the casual observer cannot but notice, that business is the order of the day in the place, situated away from all the thoroughfares or through lines of railroads, and without any outside aid, it has grown to be the business centre of a large circle of surrounding country. As the country has developed the city has grown in wealth, business, population and commercial standing, and the merchants, as a class, are noted for their liberality and wide range of thought in everything pertaining to the future prosperity of their city. The surrounding country is peopled by an intelligent community of farmers and stock raisers who have in a few years attained comparative wealth and affluence. Right here, within a radius of a few blocks, is transacted more business than is generally done in many cities of double the size and of older settlement.

We can offer to the newcomer a location in a live and wealthy western city, with a light debt and low taxes.

We can offer him real estate at low figures, and pledge him a cordial welcome from a liberal people, and all the social, educational and religious advantages to be desired.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

FIELD & SUTHERLAND.

This, one of the principal houses of Maquoketa, was established in 1863 by Mr. Field, and owing to the untiring energy and perseverance characteristic of the canny Scotchman, they have achieved a prominent position among our influential business men. They are proprietors of a first-class bakery and restaurant on Main street, and Centennial Hall above, erected by them in 1876. The Hall is admirably arranged for performances of any kind, has a stage 25x40, 145 raised seats, two dressing rooms, and seating capacity for over 500 people. They are well entitled to the respect of all who know them, as one of the solid and substantial firms of the prosperous city of Maquoketa.

JOHN WHITFIELD & SON.

Are proprietors of the Eagle Woolen Mills and manufacturers of cassimeres, flannels, satinets, jeans and yarns. They employ about fifteen hands, have 2 set of cards, 480 spindles and manufacture annually goods to the value of about $60,000. As an evidence of the worth and popularity of their woolen wares, it is only necessary to allude to the fact that wherever exhibited, have taken first premium for blankets, flannels, and the best general display of woolen goods, and we cannot speak too highly of the enterprising and business qualities of this firm.

SPENCER & KNITTLE.

The above gentlemen, established in 1863, are one of the leading firms in the dry goods line in Maquoketa. They occupy a large spacious store room on Main street, employ several clerks, and their stock embraces the choicest and most elegant assortment of staple and fancy dry goods, ladies and children's shoes, gents' furnishing goods, etc. Personally these gentlemen stand high with the trade, and others with whom they have dealings. Ever courteous and genial, acquaintances formed with them are remembered with pleasure. As business men of honor and integrity they enjoy the respect of their fellow citizens, and the good will of dwellers in other cities. Their business dealings have ever been marked with fairness and a liberal policy throughout; and followed to its legitimate conclusion, there remains the assurance of many prosperous years, an increase of wealth, and the continued confidence of their business associates.

N. A. HAMLEY.

Mr. Hamley, the subject of this sketch, is a gentleman who by his honorable conduct and fair dealing has earned a well-deserved popularity. His store, located at No. 4 Exchange Block, is one of the largest in the city, and he does an exclusively Grocery and Crockery trade. He has lately inaugurated a new system of credit with customers which meets with general favor. His long practical experience in the business, having served twelve years as a clerk in one store and been established over four years, qualifies him thoroughly to take advantage of all the changes and fluctuations of trade and give his customers the benefit of "Small Profits and Quick Returns."

W. M. STEPHENS.

This gentleman came to Maquoketa in the year 1857. Was established in business in 1865 as a junior partner of the firm of Willey, Murphy & Stephens. In 1868 Mr. Stephens assumed entire control of the house, and it has been conducted successfully since until it has reached its present large proportions. In the Spring of 1876, Mr. S. was elected to the honorable position of Mayor of Maquoketa, and has served two terms to the satisfaction of the general public. He is also a member of the School Board. He is owner of Stephens' Stone Block, southwest corner Main and Platt streets, which is one of the most substantial structures in the city, built entirely of stone at a cost of about six thousand dollars. In 1873 Mr. Stephens laid out an addition to the city lying on the south side of the city near the railroad.

T. E. CANNELL.

In the line of Boots and Shoes no house in the county wields more influence in this branch of business than that of Mr. Cannell, whose stock is the largest and of the best quality situated on the east side of Main street. Mr. Cannell is essentially a self-made man and an honored member of the community. His business has been established for twenty-eight years. He is President of the Jackson County Agricultural Society.

BARNES BROS.

This house was established in 1867 by Mr. Wilson Barnes, who conducted the business until 1870, when Mr. Jos. Barnes became associated with him. Being both practical and energetic men, their business in spite of the hard times has gradually increased, until now it ranks with the leading manufacturing establishments of the State. Their fine Machine Works, Warerooms and Foundry, a view of which we present in this work, were erected at a cost of about $9,000, and are fitted out with machinery of the latest and most approved design.

C. M. SANBORN.

Mr. Sanborn, the subject of this sketch, is a living exponent of what energy and perseverance, when rightly directed, will accomplish. His store is the best finished and handsomest room in this section of the country, with two fronts, one on Main street of 24 by 80 feet deep, and the other on Pleasant street of 22 feet. He is fair dealing and straight-forward in all his transactions, and we think all who may favor him with their patronage will be satisfied.

DR. G. S. MARTIN.

One of the oldest and most honored of the citizens of Maquoketa is Dr. Martin, who has been a resident of the county in the practice of medicine since 1848. In 1864 he opened a drug store in Maquoketa and engaged in the manufacture of some standard medicinal preparations, one of which has secured a national reputation. We allude to "Dr. Martin's Tonic and Blood Purifier." He also manufactures other proprietary articles of known worth and excellence, such as "Dr. Martin's Cough Cure," "Dr. Martin's Compound Cathartic Pills," and "Dr. Martin's Hog Medicine."

H. B. FRENCH & SON.

Among the most respected citizens of Maquoketa is Mr. H. B. French, of the above firm, who with his son are engaged in the sale of Pianos, Organs and Musical Instruments generally. Their elegant warerooms are located in the Opera House. They are special agents for the Mathushek Piano. Have been established over five years, and many of our households are gladdened with the strains of sweet music produced from the beautiful instruments purchased from this popular house.

A. HURST.

In 1871 Mr. Hurst, who had for many years been engaged in the manufacture of Lime, visited Maquoketa, and becoming convinced that the stone here found was of the very best description for his purpose, established the Sand Ridge Draw Kilns, situated about one and three-fourth miles north of the city, where he has since been engaged in the manufacture of a very superior article of Pure White Lime. Mr. Hurst is one of those active, go-ahead men who are sure to succeed in whatever enterprise they undertake. He has built a splendid road to Maquoketa, and intends loading cars direct at his kilns. He also owns 240 acres of land of excellent quality adjoining his kilns. The lime which Mr. Hurst manufactures has become celebrated for its admitted excellence of quality, and we advise those who intend to build and others to consult the endorsement exhibited in his advertisement in this work.

M. MAJORS.

The above named gentleman is a wholesale dealer in Butter, Eggs, Poultry and General Produce, which he ships east in large quantities. Farmers speak highly of him for his liberal and prompt dealings with them.

TROUT & MUNGER.

This house was first established by Mr. Trout in 1859. In 1863 Mr. Munger became a partner, and the business has been conducted successfully under the above style since that time. They are located on Main street, near the corner of Platt, in a brick building erected by themselves in 1872–3, with a frontage on Main street of 14 feet and 90 feet deep to an L extending to Platt street 43 feet, with a front of 24 feet. The basement is used as a store room for extra stock, which embraces a general assortment of stoves, tin, and shelf hardware.

S. WILLIAMS.

In the year 1850, when Maquoketa had but two small stores, Mr. S. Williams came here and has been a resident ever since, was engaged in mercantile business for many years, and is proprietor of the Oakland Mills. His reputation as a business man stands high wherever known, and fair dealing and strict integrity has marked all his intercourse with his fellow-citizens. Mr. Williams' Flour and Feed Store on Main street is one of the largest in the city.

WILLIAM SEARS & SON

Are proprietors of No. 13 Excelsior Block, and dealers in Groceries and Provisions, also manufacturers of all kinds of Fur Goods. Mr. Sears, Sr., is one of the earliest settlers in Maquoketa, opened his present establishment in 1863, and 1st of January, 1877, took Mr. Sendol Sears, his son, into partnership.

DOSTOL & HOFFMAN.

Mr. John Dostol erected his Brewery in 1865, and has since made continual improvements and appliances for the manufacture of Lager Beer. His partner, Mr. Hoffman, was admitted into the business in 1866, and they now have a very large trade, manufacturing annually over sixteen hundred barrels.

C. C. YOUNG.

Over twelve years past Mr. Young started in business as a Carriage Manufacturer, and is noted for the fine and substantial work he turns out. He employs five hands, all practical mechanics, and to all who require anything in his line we especially recommend them to consult his advertisement in this work and give him a call.

M. RICE.

The New York Store on Main street opened by Mr. Rice in 1874, is one of the handsomest arranged establishments in the west with a very large and well selected stock of dry goods, ladies furnishing goods and millinery. Mr. Rice's estimable lady, Mrs. Rice, superintends the millinery department, and with an efficient corps of assistants will always be found on hand to show customers the new and desirable fabrics constantly arriving at this mammoth Fashion Emporium.

of country, having been established as early as 1853. His store, on the west side of Main street, midway between Platt and Pleasant, will be found to contain a choice assortment of drugs, medicines, paints, oils, toilet and fancy articles, lamps and chimneys, as well as school books, stationery and Yankee notions.

KING STEEAR.

In 1866 Mr. Steear opened a small store for the manufacture and sale of boots and shoes. His invariable rule has been to make the best goods possible at the lowest rates consistent with a living profit. He carries on an exclusive boot and shoe business, and by constant attention to his trade has secured a well earned popularity. He has carried off first premium at the Jackson County Fair for boots and shoes of his own manufacture.

LOUIS COHN.

The above gentleman carries on the oldest established clothing house in Maquoketa and has one of the largest stocks in the county. Mr. C. is a practical tailor and cutter of experience, and customers who prefer having their garments made to order, can always rely on having them made in the most fashionable manner.

ARTHUR NOTT.

To produce the "counterfeit presentment of the human face divine" in an artistic manner is only to be executed by the true artist. Mr. Nott has the finest photograph gallery in Maquoketa, situated south of Pleasant on Main street, with all the latest appliances for taking pictures in the best manner. Several of the views in this work are engraved from photographs taken by Mr. Nott.

POFF & NICKERSON.

In 1857, the above gentlemen purchased from Stinson & Wilson their entire interest at Pin Oak, one and one-half miles west of Maquoketa. In 1867 they erected a large woolen mill, which has a capacity of manufacturing about 150 yds. per day. They are also proprietors of a grist mill which has two run of stone. For some years they ran a saw mill, but have lately changed it to a broom-handle factory. During 1876 they commenced quarrying stone to be manufactured into lime, which being of a superior quality has become widely known. All the lime required in the construction of the monster depot at Council Bluffs came from this firm.

S. T. HOLMES.

The science of dentistry has made wonderful strides during the last few years. One of the most accomplished gentlemen in that profession is the above, whose dental parlors located at the north-east corner of Main and Platt streets, are supplied with all improvements for use in operations, and for the preservation of the teeth.

TINKER BROS.

Are proprietors of the City Book Store in Centennial Block on Main street, and are dealers in variety goods of all kinds, books, stationery, periodicals, newspapers, fancy goods, toys, musical instruments, guns, revolvers, pianos, organs. They have been established in business since 1866, and have secured the confidence and patronage of the public generally.

GURIUS BROS.

Are proprietors of a meat market on West Platt street, and have the custom and patronage of the leading citizens, as they keep nothing but the very best quality of beef. We understand these gentlemen have lately bought a lot on Main street between Platt and Pleasant, and intend erecting a large shop for their use. We wish them success in their new departure. They have been in business seven years.

N. F. BECHTEL.

The Pennsylvania House on West Platt street is a good comfortable house, and is extensively patronized by the farmers of the surrounding country. He sets a good table and does everything to promote the wants and comfort of his numerous patrons. He has a good stable and large yard in connection with his house.

R. N. BLAIR.

Fine chronometers and watches require great care and skillful work in repairing. Mr. Blair was for several years in an establishment where none but the most skillful employees were retained, and thus acquired that practical knowledge which enables him to attend to intricate movements and repair generally work which cannot be done elsewhere. He also makes a specialty of executing fine stone cameo portraits, and is located at A. Fellows & Co.'s drug store on Main street.

There are many other mercantile houses which deserve mention for the character and variety of their wares, but space forbids but a short notice.

CITY OF BELLEVUE.

HISTORY, STATISTICS, POPULATION, REVIEW, &c.

Bellevue is situated on the Mississippi river, twenty-two miles below the city of Dubuque, and twelve miles from Galena, Illinois. The town site is upon a beautiful plateau of land whose general height is about fifteen feet above high water mark, and is surrounded by an amphitheatre of hills which break off the severe cold of winter. Few places on the river present more picturesque or beautiful scenery than that witnessed from the top of the high bluffs, either on the north or south of the town, including the river with its islands, the shores of Illinois beyond, the farms and farm houses up the valley, which runs to a point westward at the distance of about six miles, and the village nestling in the ample area at the foot of the bluffs with its business streets, its levee and its tasty dwellings. A steam ferry boat makes constant trips between Bellevue and the opposite shore, whence a considerable portion of the country trade is received, and steamboats are almost constantly in sight, either at the landing, in the regular up or down river trips, or going to, or coming from Galena. The railroad trains of the Chicago, Dubuque & Minnesota road pass directly through the village to the station, which is just north of the corporate limits.

HISTORICAL.

Bellevue has in some respects quite a romantic history. It belongs to a section of country which, prior to 1840, or during the time of the early settlement, was infested by an organized gang of horse thieves and outlaws. These thieves stole horses and committed depredations and sometimes murder in the frontier settlements, extending from Missouri to Rock River, Illinois. Jackson and the adjoining counties on the west, were the theater of the operations of a portion of this gang, as the settlements were scattering and the extensive timber on the Maquoketa, afforded them facilities for concealment and escape from justice. They would steal horses in Missouri and bring them across the country to Bellevue, transferring them across the Mississippi at night, and exchanging them for horses stolen on the east side of the river. This made Bellevue a sort of headquarters or rendezvous for the desperadoes, many of whom were known and identified by the citizens as belonging to the gang; but it was dangerous to point them out publicly, or attempt to have them arrested for they out-numbered the honest settlers, and were in secret alliance with members of their gang who lived in many of the neighborhoods under the guise of respectable citizens. For a long time it was difficult to determine who were honest men and who were thieves and outlaws. When a few of the honest settlers suspected their neighbors, they discussed the matter privately, but were afraid to take any public action, for they did not know who to trust, and in case of being betrayed into the hands of the thieves, they would either be murdered or compelled to leave the country. Many murders were actually committed of citizens who informed of them; others were missing from their cabins and it was never known what became of them. The courts, in the country, could do nothing to suppress them, as they could bring more witnesses than could be brought against them, to prove an alibi, and by false swearing escape the clutches of the law.

THE CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION.

Things went on in this way till it became necessary for the settlers to organize for their own self protection. An association was formed at Linn Grove, in Linn County, in 1839, of which Captain W. A. Warren, then Sheriff of Jackson County, and an active participant in the stirring events of those pioneer times, gives the following account:

Colonel Cox, Mr. Moss and I took our departure, promising Bear we would return the next day. Passing up the Wapsie, we came to Russell's, where the town of Fairview is now located. Russell and Mr. Crow accompanied us to Linn Grove to the house of Mr.—— which had been selected as our place of meeting. Arriving there about twelve o'clock we found the house crowded. Cedar County was represented by Messrs. Whitlesy, Culbertson, Roberts and others. Mr. Roberts will be remembered by members of the Territorial Legislature as the gentleman from Cedar, who, upon the introduction of any bill, would invariably address the chair with: "Mr. Speaker, ar Cedar in that ar bill, if not, I can't vote for it." Notwithstanding his little eccentricities of speech, he was a faithful representative, and true to his constituents. Jones County was represented at the meeting by Messrs. Bowen, Beardsley, and perhaps others. The object for which we met was to devise concerted action for the more effectual protection of the settlers from thieves and desperadoes, who were daily preying upon the honest portion of the community. Colonel Cox explained the steps that had already been taken in Jackson County, and said he was glad to see the leading men of his sister counties present. He was an early settler in Illinois, and knew that all new counties were invested with banditti, who fled from justice in the older States, and held full sway for a time on the frontiers. But the hardy and honest pioneers are just the men to finally weed out such a class. He was of the opinion that moral suasion was wasted upon thieves and murderers. You cannot even reach them with the law, for when one of the band is arrested, no matter how strong may be the evidence of his guilt, his confederates will prove an alibi for him. In Illinois we rid the country of them, and found the most effectual means to be hemp, and my idea now is to thoroughly organize and protect every citizen, not only in his property, but in free speech. Let the officers be vigilant, and arrest all trespassers of the law, and see that it is vigorously enforced. Whenever the law cannot be enforced, treat the desperadoes as we did in Illinois. After the Colonel's address the associations was formed, and picked men selected in every county to give information and carry out the plans of the society. Many incidents of horse stealing and passing counterfeit money were related by those present.

THE BELLEVUE WAR.

Among the apparently respectable citizens connected with the banditti, and discovered to be a leading man of the gang, was one Brown, proprietor of the Bellevue House, the only hotel then kept in the place. This house was the rendezvous of the thieves in transferring their stolen property across the Mississippi, and at it occurred the fight with the desperadoes known as the Bellevue War, in the spring of 1840. The fight was brought on in the following manner:

One James C. Mitchell, a prominent citizen, had become obnoxious to Brown's gang, on account of his exposure of their attempts to induce him to join them, and they determined to assassinate him. Accordingly a party entered his house in the evening for that purpose; but Mitchell being absent at a party in the village, they robbed the house and attempted an outrage upon the person of his hired girl. The girl made her escape, and information was conveyed to Mitchell. The leader of the murderous gang was one James Thompson, who appears to have had respectable relations in the State of New York. When Mitchell heard of what had been done, he armed himself and started for his house. On a corner of the street he met

Thompson and Montgomery—the latter afterwards noted for the murder of Brown, of Maquoketa. Thompson attempted to shoot Mitchell, but his pistol missed fire, and the shooting was on the other side. Thompson fell, mortally wounded, and expired in a few moments. The Brown thieves made an attempt to lynch Mitchell, but he escaped and fortified himself up stairs in his house till he could send for the Sheriff, into whose custody he surrendered himself.

This act of daring outrage created a great excitement in the village and throughout the frontier settlements. The honest citizens, fully aroused, demanded lynch law. Captain Warren consulted Judge T. S. Wilson, who advised that the whole party should be arrested and brought before the District Court for trial. Warrants were accordingly issued by Justices Watkins and Harris, and Sheriff Warren was charged with the duty of arresting the parties. Meanwhile Brown and his confederates, some twenty-three in number, had fortified themselves in the Bellevue House, occupying principally the upper story, and, armed with guns and pitchforks, were prepared for a desperate resistance. Captain Warren visited Brown in person, who agreed to surrender if the Captain would guarantee that he would not be at once seized and lynched by the excited people. To this the Captain, after consulting with his friends, agreed; but as he was approaching the house in company with three men, to make the arrests, Brown appeared on the outside and ordered him to halt, saying that he had changed his mind; that he had determined to resist to the last extremity; that Warren might come alone and consult; but if the others advanced another step they would be shot down.

Warren finding all efforts to induce a peaceable surrender fruitless, returned and informed the settlers, who, together with the citizens of the village, had assembled to the number of eighty men of the association. Out of these, forty were selected and made ready for the scene of action. Captain Warren ordered them to march so as not to expose themselves to the fire of the enemy stationed up stairs, and when near the house gave orders for them to charge into the building. In this action one of the citizens was shot. Brown met the charging force at the door, and when ordered to surrender dropped his gun, which was discharged in falling. This was the signal for firing from the outside. One of the citizens taking good aim through a window, shot Brown in the neck, killing him instantly. The thieves in the upper story were well armed, so that it was impossible for the besieging party to get up stairs. Warren then called for a brand to set the house on fire, in order to burn them out, and while stooping to kindle the fire at the end of the building on the outside, two shots were fired at him from an adjoining shanty, in which several of the thieves had secreted themselves, which lodged in the clap-boards a few inches above his head. The thieves seeing the house about to be consumed, began to jump out of the back windows and run for the brush in the rear of the building. Some of them were followed and shot. Twelve were captured, mostly in running from the house; among the number were the notorious Young and Fox, the murderers of Colonel Davenport at Rock Island.

BALLOTING WITH BEANS.

The method of deciding the fate of these desperadoes was rather novel. It was no less than balloting with beans—white beans for hanging, red beans for some other punishment. Carried against hanging by two beans. The punishment inflicted was from ten to fifty lashes on the bare back, and after this salutary scourging the victims were "rivered"—that is, put aboard of canoes and sent adrift down the river, with the solemn injunction never to show their heads again in these parts on pain of having their necks stretched. This vigorous treatment of the horse thieves of Jackson and Linn Counties, was the beginning of the effectual breaking up of their operations throughout the county.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

The first settler in Bellevue was John D. Bell, who erected the first cabin in the Fall of 1835. The first hotel was built by Peter Dutell, in 1836, and was called the Bellevue House. The town of Bellevue was first laid out by John D. Bell, in 1835, the survey being done by Phillip McLean. It was again laid out by commissioners appointed by the United States, among whom were General George Cubbage and Wm. W. Cahill. At that time lots were valued at $7.50 for front lots and $5.00 for back lots, the proceeds, after paying the commissioners and the cost of surveying, being appropriated to the town. The surveyor on the part of the United States was George W. Harrison.

COMMERCIAL STATISTICS FOR 1877.

Bellevue has a population of about 2,000, and is a large shipping point both by river and rail. The exports from Bellevue by river are: Wheat, 100,000 bushels; oats, 200,000 bushels; rye, 30,000 bushels. The exports from Bellevue over C., C. & D. Railroad are: North, oats, 50,000 bushels; corn, 30,000; South, wheat, 50,000 bushels; oats, 100,000 bushels; live and dressed hogs, 30,000 head. Freight received during 1877, 3,636,400 pounds; freight forwarded during 1877, 4,417,700 pounds.

MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS OF BELLEVUE CITY.

HENRY & WYNKOOP.

The business which the above gentlemen carry on was originally established in 1865. The present proprietors are both gentlemen of more than average ability, both practical pharmacists and apothecaries. Their elegant drug emporium is located on Front street between State and Market, occupies an area of 22x70 feet, and is well stocked with an endless variety of toilet and fancy articles, patent medicines, pure drugs, paints, oils, books, etc., etc.

A. J. DORCHESTER & CO.

It is estimated that there is $144,000,000 in the timber industry, as well as lumber interest, employing 200,000 men. The above firm are proprietors of the Bellevue Saw Mill, and in their business capacity represent the chief manufacturing interests of the place. Their mill erected about eleven years ago on the south side of Water street, occupies 30x90 feet, and is run entirely by steam. They employ about thirty-five hands, and turn out about 30,000 feet of lumber per day, besides shingles, lath, etc. This firm have ever been identified with every movement that was wisely designed to promote the prosperity of the city of Bellevue.

J. G. & W. W. WILSON.

The Bellevue Foundry and Machine Shop was first started eighteen years ago by the father of the present proprietors, who are young men of practical knowledge and skill in their line of business. They occupy the large store building erected in 1865, two stories with 30 feet front and 90 deep. On reference to their advertisement in this work it will be seen that they are prepared to execute anything within the limits of a general foundry and machine business.

J. P. ROCHE.

The progress of dentistry since Dr. Spence in 1762 commenced practice in Philadelphia, has been very marked—from the more simple and comparatively not difficult operations of cleansing, extracting and filling small and superficial cavities, it has extended to a thorough and scientific treatment of the mouth. Dr. Roche possesses in a high degree that practical knowledge and skill desirable in a dentist, and to all requiring his services we heartily recommend him. Rooms in Nieman's Block on Front street.

J. P. MANN.

Mr. Mann is the proprietor of an extensive Livery and Sale Stable, the largest in the city of Bellevue, dimensions 100x85 feet, with accommodations for 35 horses. He has been established over five years, and keeps first-class stock and elegant rigs.

DIERKES & ROLLING.

The above gentlemen are engaged in the drug business, and by their uniformly courteous and gentlemanly manner of doing business have established a high reputation. Their store, located on the corner of Front and State streets contains a full and complete stock of drugs, medicines, paints, oils, books, stationery, toilet and fancy articles.

AMBROSE BREESE.

Mr. Breese is a a practical watchmaker of acknowledged skill, and makes a specialty of repairing fine watches, he also keeps a good assortment of jewelry at his ware rooms, corner of Front and Court streets.

A. W. WEBER.

Mr. Weber is proprietor of the Bower House. It was erected in 1852 by Mr. Sublette. In 1857 it was consolidated with another house and called the Bower House, in honor of Mr. Bower an old and respected citizen of this place. It is now the first-class house of Bellevue, conducted under the efficient management of the above named gentleman with a corps of gentle manly assistants, chief among whom is Mr. Jos. Andrus, one of the most thoroughly accomplished hotel clerks in Iowa.

The cuisine is all that could be desired, the table being supplied with all the delicacies of the season; in fact, the Bower House is fast earning a wide spread notoriety for its A No. 1 management, and we heartily recommend the travelling public to patronize this well kept hostelrie.

KEGLER & WEINSCHENK

Are dealers in agricultural implements of recognized worth and superiority, also in sewing machines. Their ware rooms are located on Front street, and are well stocked with a general assortment of farming machines, buggies, pumps, etc., etc.

There are several other houses who deserve mention, such as Allen & Co., grain and produce dealers; Hughey & Kunz, hardware dealers.

BELLEVUE LEADER.

The Bellevue Leader was started in 1870 by Alexander Fanning under the name of the Iowa Republican. In 1871 it was purchased by G. C. Deming and called the Jackson Leader. In 1874 it was purchased by Mr. W. O. Evans, who changed its name again to "Bellevue Leader," which it still retains. It has been very successful under the editorial management of Mr. W. O. Evans and has secured an ample share of the public patronage.

SABULA CITY.

Sabula, situated on the Mississippi river, at the south-east extremity of Jackson County, is the eastern terminus of the Sabula, Ackley & Dakota Railroad, or as it is now, the Iowa Branch of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

A steam ferry runs from this point to Savanna, which brings it into intimate relations with Illinois.

This town has the facilities of two roads to carry the immense aggregate of produce which comes in from the surrounding country.

The Chicago, Clinton & Dubuque Railroad have a station here, as well as the S., A. & D. R. R., mentioned before, who maintain one of their largest depots here. Besides these outlets and inlets for prosperous life, the citizens have improved their roads within the corporate limits by means of a wise outlay in macadamized roads, which give excellent approaches from the railroad stations and from the agricultural districts.

The name of the town Sabula, signifies sand, in the Indian tongue, and this word best describes the shifting nature of the deposit upon which the place has been built, hence the necessity for good road making.

SABULA THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

In 1843, Sabula, then called Charlestown, contained twenty dwellings, mostly frame buildings, there being only one of brick, and that one not quite finished. There was one tavern, one store, (which was occasionally closed while the proprietor made a trip to Galena to replenish his stock,) one blacksmith, one wagon maker, two shoemakers, three or four carpenters, and a cooper or two.

There was neither church nor school house in the town. There was no building west of Broad street and only three in that. The half of a small beef could not be sold in a long, summer's day, and half of what was sold was never paid for. Wood was delivered and corded on the river bank in town at two dollars and a half a cord. Beef sold at two or three cents a pound, and pork a dollar and a half per hundred. Wild hay, delivered on the ground in cock, brought one dollar per ton. Chopping was paid for at from fifty to seventy-five cents per cord. Rails, one dollar per hundred. Whiskey "by the small," at fifty cents per gallon could be had almost anywhere.

But few horse teams were to be seen, oxen being chiefly used. Galena was the market, and the only place to obtain cash for produce, but that town being the end of the market, the seller had to take whatever price was there offered him.

At Sabula, and in the vicinity, a young cow and calf would bring nine dollars in work or trade; while a dozen of chickens would stall the market at any time.

Sunday was chiefly devoted to hunting or fishing, playing cards for money in some secure place, or openly pitching horse shoes in front of the "Iowa Exchange." There was no sidewalk, nor any thought of such an expensive luxury. There was a time, though somewhat later, when the nearest magistrate lived five miles off, and the only available constable lived near him. Men could come to town, and get uproariously drunk, without any fear of the law, or being interfered with, and of course many availed themselves of the glorious opportunity.

In 1844, the water was over the bottom nearly the entire season; and one settler who lived about three miles from town, made a practice of wading once or twice a week to sell a few pounds of butter, at from five to ten cents a pound; he died that fall. Families living from ten to fifteen miles distant were looked upon as neighbors, and depended upon Sabula to trade in, and there obtain their necessary supplies.

The country was but thinly settled. There were no improvements from the farm of the late Israel Day, west to the valley of Cooper Creek; nor from George F. Green's south to where Bodie now lives; nor west to Deep Creek.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

The public schools of Sabula are well conducted. There is a Central School Building and two ward school houses, and the combined institution is graded in three departments. There are other persons engaged in the work of tuition here, outside of the public schools, and the spirit of emulation operates wholesomely to the benefit of the community.

THE PRESS.

The Sabula Gazette is a weekly quarto paper, with Dr. J. F. Fairbank as editor and proprietor. It was started by a joint stock company in 1865, and has seen many changes, but now is thoroughly identified with the business interests of Sabula, independent in politics, and has a liberal patronage.

In 1868 the mill now occupied by the above firm was erected by Messrs. Risley & Day, and in 1872 was bought by the present proprietors. The flour mill is 50x50 feet, with a wing 24x36 feet, has four run of stone, capacity for manufacturing about eighty barrels per day, run entirely by steam, engine of 40-horse power. They have also recently erected an exclusive oatmeal mill on the Public Landing. They are both practical millers, employ about twelve hands, and run a cooper shop in connection for the manufacture of barrels for their own use.

CHANDLER HOUSE.

This house has lately opened on Water street, opposite the ferry landing, is an entirely new hotel, first class in all respects, with appointments and furnishings of the most elegant and comfortable description. It is conducted by Mr. C. E. Chandler, a gentleman who has had large and varied experience in the hotel business in St. Paul, Eau Claire, and elsewhere, and whose sole aim seems to be to have everything to conduce to the wants and comfort of his patrons.

We earnestly recommend all traveling men, tourists, and all others to make this house their headquarters while in Sabula, assuring them that they will meet with courteous treatment.

There is a first-class sample room on the first floor for commercial men, with ample stable room for horses.

There are many other establishments worthy of note, and deserving of extended notice, but space forbids but a brief mention of the principal.

P. G. STILES has in operation here one of the largest packing houses in the State, with a capacity of 1,200 hogs per day.

J. C. DAY has a very extensive hardware and agricultural implement depot.

teemed postmaster. At that time a small store and a saloon comprised the commercial advantages of the place.

The town was laid out by Mr. F. M. Miles in 1871, to whose exertions the town mainly owes its prosperity and prominence and after whom it has been named.

The town has varied attractions—a beautiful park, a fine school building, with an elegant church edifice erected at a cost of $4,500. It is a very handsome structure, the frescoing in the interior having alone cost over $225. Its bell weighs 800 pounds, and cost $325. The congregation is of the Methodist Episcopal persuasion, with the Rev. W. N. Chaffee as pastor.

There are two societies—the Centennial Lodge No. 349, I. O. O. F., and the Miles Lodge No. 45, A. O. U. W.

The Miles Public Library, incorporated Feb. 1st, 1877, has 320 volumes, and is conducted under the management of a president and board of directors.

Miles has a population of about 400, is in a prosperous condition, with ample facilities for building, having timber in abundance adjacent, as well as endless quarries of valuable stone.

The leading general store is that carried on by Mr. O. W. Heynen, a gentleman who has had large experience in city trade and who when he started in the Centennial year brought with him that practical knowledge of the details of business, coupled with the fact of knowing where to buy goods of A No. 1 quality at low prices, has enabled him to secure the largest share of the patronage of this section of the country. He has also lately gone into the hardware line in company with his brother, Mr. A. C. Heynen, a young man who has had eleven years experience as a practical tinner in Chicago, and thoroughly conversant in all matters pertaining to hardware, stoves, tinware and sheet iron, tin and copper work of all kinds.

In this progressive age, there is nothing so essential to the good and well-being of a community as a well-ordered Drug Store. Such a one is carried on by that enterprising firm of energetic young men, the Messrs. Legg & Allen, who are now established at the postoffice, where they have everything to be found in any first-class establishment of the kind. Their proprietary medicines are all remedies of acknowledged worth, and are in such constant demand as to necessitate the employment of traveling agents and teams to supply customers.

The banking interests are well represented by the Exchange Bank of Miles, with J. W. Miles, Esq., a leading grain and stock merchant, as President. There is one good hotel conducted by Mr. Laing, several blacksmith shops, a meat market, an agricultural warehouse, etc. A complete list of the names of residents will be found in the alphabetical directory of the county.

OZARK.

A village situated in the northern part of Brandon township, three and one-half miles from Canton, was first established as a postoffice in 1855. It has a grist mill and a woolen mill in successful operation, as well as a saw mill, all under the proprietorship of Mr. John Reyner. The flouring mill was erected in 1855; the woolen mill in 1863 at a cost of $5,000. Mr. Reyner is also postmaster and keeps a general store. See his advertisement in the pages of this work.

BALDWIN.

Baldwin is a small place on the Iowa Midland railroad, two miles east of Monmouth, was laid out in 1855 by Henry Hames and Jos. Skinner. It has two churches, three stores and a hotel, also has a graded school.

ANDREW

Andrew, situated on the old stage route between Davenport and Dubuque, and about the geographical center of the county, was named in honor of Andrew Jackson, and the first settler was located here as early as 1837. It was for some time the county seat, and the jail is still located here, with Mr. T. M. Hamilton as Chief Warden.

There are four churches—Lutheran, Methodist, United Presbyterian, and Presbyterian. These, with a good public school, furnish the religious and educational element necessary for the community.

Andrew is governed by a Mayor and Common Council as follows:

CANTON.

Canton, a thriving young town, is situated on the western border of the county, in Brandon township, and on the South Fork of the Maquoketa river, which here forms one of the finest water powers in the State.

Any amount of machinery can be driven by means of this valuable stream now under description, and even when the river is at its lowest, the power is amply sufficient for all purposes. The river is fed by many streams, and it flows over a rocky bed and rock sides, which preserve the limped clearness of its waters, through nearly the whole of its course.

Messrs. Peck & Becker, who are the proprietors of the Canton Flouring Mills, have made valuable improvements in connection with this water power. The dam is 200 feet wide, and has a fall of 12 feet. About 500 feet above the dam, the river makes a sharp bend, which prevents any serious calamity occuring at any time from ice, floods, etc., to the dam. Nature has been lavish in all things tending to make this one of the most desirable places adaptable for manufacturing purposes, and the time is not far distant when mills and factories will crowd the river bank, and sully its silvery brightness to produce the gold of commerce. Mr. Becker purchased the property in 1868 from Dr. G. W. Trumbull, and in 1876 Mr. Peck became associated with him under the style of firm named above, Messrs. Peck & Becker, they are manufacturers of the very best description of choice family flour, corn meal, etc., and in fact, making it a rule as they do, to purchase only the very best grades of wheat, their flour has become celebrated far and wide for its acknowledged excellence of quality.

The record of many of the solid business men of the West would form a most interesting theme in the history of the country's progress, and afford lessons of encouragement for the young as well. Integrity, energy and perseverance, will accomplish wonders in the West, and elevate men from humble positions in life, to a rank with the foremost of the merchants, manufacturers or professional men. This is exemplified in a marked degree in the standing and personal degree of confidence attained by the firm of Peck & Becker.

G. W. KELSALL is the principal storekeeper in this town having been engaged in business since 1870. On the 29th of December, 1872, Mr. Kelsall was appointed postmaster, a position which he has since occupied to the honor and credit of the citizens generally. During the fall of 1876 he erected a large massive stone structure to be used as a country store. It is a two story building, each 12 feet, with a front of 30 feet, a depth of 14 feet, walls three feet thick in the front, and two feet thick on the sides. It cost $4,000, and is without doubt one of strongest and most durable as well as commodious country stores in the county.

The people of Canton are of a liberal progressive turn, and intend that this town shall not be behind its neighbors in public improvements. As an evidence of this may be noted the fact that they have now in process of erection a fine public school building, which will have an artificial stone front, occupy an area of 24x40 feet and cost about $1,500.

The names of all the residents will be found alphabetically arranged in the Directory proper.

VAN BUREN

Commonly known as Buck-Eye, is a postoffice about three miles north of Preston. Mr. Otto Schmidt is postmaster, a gentleman who has been a resident of this county over 20 years. He keeps a general store, which he opened in the fall of 1870, and his stock embraces everything to be found in any first-class country store.

MONMOUTH.

Monmouth, laid out in 1856 by Dr. L. T. Hubbard and W. F. Douglas, lies twelve miles west of Maquoketa on the Iowa Midland road and embraces some live business men within its radius. It has two churches, the Baptist church built in 1870 and the Methodist in 1873, they also have a fine two story school house erected in 1874.

U. V. ATKINSON, the postmaster, has been established over six years in the drug business and keeps a very choice assortment of pure drugs, medicines, paints, oils, fancy groceries, toilet and fancy articles. Also dealer in musical instruments.

D. A. WATERMAN, a resident of Monmouth for over twenty-one years, has been engaged for the past three years in the furniture business, and keeps also on hand coffins and executes undertaking in all its branches.

W. A. MCCARTY is a well known citizen to whom is due much of the architectural display exhibited in the erection of the commodious and substantial edifices visible on all sides, as well as being a contractor and builder he deals in lumber, lath, shingles, pickets, etc., etc.

Mrs. D. C. MISHLER a lady known far and and wide for her amiable qualities of mind and heart, is engaged in the millinery business, and ladies can rely on having everything done for them in the most fashionable manner. She is also agent for Butterick's Patterns.

There are several other persons engaged in mercantile business who deserve mention. Among whom may be mentioned

A. B. LAKE hotel keeper and boot and shoe dealer.

BARNES & BRUNDAGE harness manufacturers. Mr. Barnes acts as an attorney for those who desire his services.

PRESTON.

Preston, a lively and go-ahead town, is located on the Sabula, Ackley & Dakota Railroad, fifteen miles west of the Mississippi river. It was laid out by Z. DeGroat, in company with several other gentlemen, in the fall of 1870, and it was on the 3d day of December of that year that the first railroad train arrived in Preston. Such was the impetus given to the place by the inroad of the iron horse, that over seventy-five buildings were erected the following year.

Preston is peopled by a class of men at once vigorous and enterprising, who do not propose to take a back seat in the race for future prosperity and aggrandisement. It stands in the midst of good agricultural land, and has excellent railroad facilities. The dwelling houses of some of the residents are costly and handsome, with great scenic advantages, one of the most noticeable being that of Mr. DeGroat, which was erected in 1870 at a cost of $7,000.

The public school building is very handsome and commodious, occupying a prominent position, and constituting the chief adornment of the town in which it has been built. It was erected in 1873, and cost $10,000.

There are two fine church edifices, one built by a union of two congregations—Methodist and Congregational, and the other by the Christian or Carmelite denomination. These, coupled with the fact that they have a literary association of more than ordinary merit, insures to the new comer those social, religious and intellectual advantages which should ever be an object of the highest interest. The town is remarkably healthy. Lots in choice locations can be bought for from $50 to $200.

Business of all kinds is very active, and there is more shipping done here than at any point between Sabula and Marion.

The town has a well conducted weekly paper, the Preston

The following are brief sketches of some of the most prominent and representative men engaged in active business pursuits in the thriving and prosperous town of Preston:

Z. DeGroat, a resident of this township for twenty-two years, is the gentleman to whom Preston owes most of its prestige as a progressively live town. He came from Utica, N. Y., in 1856, and hired himself to a man named Hunter at $16 per month and board. During that time, by the indomitable perseverance of a naturally energetic character, he has become rich and honored the country over. He is President of the "Free Masons' Mutual Aid Association of Iowa," and takes an active interest in whatever developes his State, American society, and the country at large; his characteristics are great energy, industry and persistency in whatever work he undertakes; his honor and integrity unimpeachable, social in his habits, charitable and benevolent, a faithful friend and a merry companion, ever ready to assist in all good works whether for private welfare or the public benefit.

Day & Hobart are dealers in Agricultural Implements, and is composed of Mr. J. C. Day, the largest dealer in hardware in Sabula, and Mr. Hobart, a gentleman of large experience and practical attainments in his particular line of business. Their warerooms are two story, 24x64, blacksmith shops 24x40 and from what we hear their principal aim seems to be to obtain agencies of the best known implements and only those of acknowledged merit and superiority.

Henry Specht, proprietor of the Mitchell House, is a gentleman known far and wide for his genial and courteous treatment of all persons with whom he has contact. He is an extensive dealer in live stock, grain and produce, and has a first-rate livery stable in connection with his hotel. He has been a resident of this county twenty-four years.

Henry Thill, dealer in lumber, laths, shingles, sash doors, mouldings and spouting, also handles live stock to some extent, and takes an active interest in the prosperity of his town.

JOHN PETERS was established in the hardware line in 1871, and now does an extensive business in blacksmith and wagon-makers' stock, shelf and heavy hardware, fine cutlery, iron and steel, and a full line of stoves of all kinds, and to any one desiring anything in his line we cannot too highly recommend this worthy citizen.

J. S. PRIOR is proprietor of that first-class hostelrie known as the DeSoto House, and which has become quite a resort among traveling men and commercial tourists on account of the good cheer and home-like comfort obtainable there. Mr. Prior is a hotel keeper of experience, and knows how to cater to the traveling community. He also has teams for those who desire to visit any outlying point.

Among others as deserving of notice may be mentioned B. F. MCMANIGAL, REIFF & BEHRNS, JAMES M. JACOBSEN, J. D. SMITH, &c.

For the full list of names of citizens see directory proper.

FULTON

Is located in Farmers' Creek Township, eight miles from Maquoketa City. It was laid out in the year 1851 by William Morden. It has a good public school building, erected in 1870, with an average attendance of about 60. A Presbyterian Church was built in 1874 at a cost of $1,800. The main business of the town consists in the large general mercantile business carried on by Mr. W. C. Morden, whose stock is one of the largest in the county. Mr. Morden is a gentleman whom it is an honor to know, and whose genial qualities of mind and heart will ever be remembered by the writer; in fact, his popularity with all classes is such that he has attained to the highest and most honorable position in the county, that of Chairman of the Board of Supervisors.

There are two saw mills located near this place. One, owned and operated by Mr. W. H. Slipper, a gentleman of known reliability, does the most extensive hard-wood lumber manufacturing in this county, his sales extending in a large radius, embracing Davenport, Dubuque, and other centres of trade. Mr. Slipper is also proprietor of one of the finest farms in the West, consisting of over 600 acres in a high state of cultivation.

SPRAGUEVILLE.

A small village situated about three and one-half miles northwest from Preston, was named after a Mr. Sprague, who made a claim here in 1841. In 1856 Tompkins and Alexander erected a large flouring mill; shortly after Mr. T. sold his interest to Mr. A. Riley, who continued its operations for many years in company with Mr. Alexander. The first store was opened by John Brown, who subsequently in 1864 sold out to Mr. Alexander, who continued the business. Most of the advancement in this place is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Alexander, who laid out the town in lots and erected the first school house in 1867. Mr. Alexander has lately opened up a new stock of goods, which, we understand, he is retailing at remarkably low figures. Mr. A. will please accept our grateful acknowledgments for assistance rendered in arranging matter relative to his township and surrounding country, and we cannot speak in too high terms of this gentleman, whom it is a pleasure to meet and of whom it is said by those who have dealt with him that they have found him strictly honest in business, fair in his dealings, social in his relations, and genial in his disposition.

Another chief interest of this place is the Deep Creek Mills, mentioned above, and which are conducted by Mr. C. H. Riley. The mill cost when erected $14,000, has three run of burrs, and capacity for manufacturing over 46 barrels per day. Mr. Riley has recently made extensive additions at a cost of $3,300, and always having plenty of water has unequalled facilities for manufacturing.

In addition to the above there are three blacksmith shops, a drug store, postoffice, several saloons, two physicians, hotel, carpenters, shoemakers, etc., etc.

ST. DONATUS.

Situated in Tete des Morts Valley, and in the township of the same name, is ten miles north-west from Bellevue, was laid out by Mr. Krier in 1854, and the first postoffice was established in 1856 by Peter Gellen. A flour mill was built in 1840, and is now run by Mr. Krier. The first house was built by Jacob Hiltgen. There are two churches—the Roman Catholic and Lutheran. The principal interest of the place is, that it is the site of St. Mary's Institute, an institution for the higher education of young ladies, conducted by the Sisters of Notre Dame.

HANS IVER LUND'S

New Patent Iron Harrow.

Patented June 5th, 1877.

THE VERY BEST IN USE.

The above cut shows my new patent Iron Harrow, which is simple in construction, light, strong and durable, of less draft than an ordinary harrow, and effective in operation, so arranged that when in use there is a side motion, breaking up the lumps thoroughly, and stirring up the soil evenly.

The Harrow is designed to be made in three sections, all exactly alike.

The following testimonials, from well-known farmers, we copy, by permission:

TESTIMONIALS.

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, September 20, 1877.

I, Joseph Denomena, do hereby certify that after having used the Lund Iron Harrow for one season, can safely say that it is the best Harrow I ever used. It will clean itself in corn stalks, and in weedy and lumpy ground. It is also the easiest draft three section Harrow I ever saw.

JOSEPH DENOMENA.

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, November 15, 1777.

This is to certify that I have used the Lund Iron Harrow, and am well satisfied with it.

THOMAS O'TOOLE.

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, September 20, 1877.

I think that two horses will do as much work with the Lund Harrow as three horses with any other Harrow the same width

M. J. SPAIN.

CHARLOTTE, Iowa, November 10, 1877.

I have used the Lund Iron Harrow, and can say that it is the best Harrow I have ever used.

S. T. DAY.

We, the undersigned, having used Lund's Patent Harrow, most cheerfully say that it does its work, is easy draft, and would recommend it to all in want of a good Harrow.

Jesse Crouch, P. H. Raun, Paul Engler, Hans Raun, Otto Petersen, George Rudman, John Blessington, Hans Grill, John Bulger, Mr. Bertelsen, Teeds Grove; Stephen Briggs, Fulton.

WHERE HE HAS BEEN FOR THE PAST EIGHT YEARS.

The Doctor has practiced medicine twenty years, and is a regular graduate of British and American Institutes. CONSULTATION FREE. Ladies can find proper treatment for diseases peculiar to their sex. All Special Diseases of Young and Middle Aged Men, arising from errors of youth or excesses of manhood, and Chronic Complaints of the Kidneys, Liver, Heart, Lungs, Bronchial Tubes and Head, have been made a specialty for over ten years, and treated with entire success. The Doctor does not pretend, like all others, to cure cases that are out of the reach of medicine or the skill of man. All he asks is that you will lay the case plainly before him, either personally or by letter, and, if in his judgment he can cure, he will frankly tell you so. No charge, only actual cost of medicine, until permanently cured. For further particulars and information, see circulars. No matter how many have treated you, if not cured, consult the Doctor. He will tell you all about your complaint.

The Greatest Medicine of the Age. Sure Cure for EPILEPSY or FITS. Cure Certain and Permanent.
